A message from Associate Artistic Director of Theatre, Music & Film Andy Toth:

In March we walked into this pristine space, a 50,000 sq/ft blank canvas that was ripe with possibility. The building has been humming ever since with new classes, new students, and new works being done weekly. Yet in all this newness, there was something still unsettled for me.

This building has been built on the imaginings of decades of students, instructors, and artists who have come before. I wasn't sure how we could represent that in our theatre program - until this lovely little cabaret came along.

It has been such an immense privilege to have a gleeful mix of current students, instructors, and alumni working together on this project. A meeting of the then and the now, with this show being performed around the world this weekend. What a brilliant way to step forward into presenting our work in this building, and, on the shoulders of the people who made this dream happen, sing our way into the performances still to come.
